President's Day—

The Woman's Club began its twentieth annual term on Wednesday of this week, at the home of the newly elected president Mrs. John H. Allen, under most pleasant and promising auspices.

The first meeting of the new club year is celebrated as President's Day and is annually a social affair of brilliancy and distinction. The reception tendered the club by Mrs. Allen on Wednesday was a happy continuation of the usual pleasant successes, and more, for on account of the increased membership and the splendid ability of Mrs. Allen as leader, the affair was characterized by an interest and enthusiasm exceeding that of any previous year.

Mrs. Allen's elegant home was exquisitely touched with a floral adornment of pink carnations and Killarney roses throughout the reception hall, library and music room and trailing spenglerie wove a background for their coloring and beauty.

Cordial greeting was given each member by the club president, who received in the library. With Mrs. Allen in the receiving line were the officers of the club as follows: Mesdames W. C. Davis, S. C. Hoyle, W. P. Bryan, E. H. Astin, P. M. Raynor and J. S. Moorling.

Called to order by Mrs. Allen, the ladies listened to the annual address of the presiding officer and heard her well laid plans for the work of the new year, beautifully and invitingly discussed. Filled with enthusiasm and imbued with a progressive earnestness that insures success during her administration, Mrs. Allen charmed her hearers with her words of practical wisdom, and gave them a new vision of their opportunity and their responsibility as club women. She said in part, "At the Biennial Federation of Woman's Clubs in Chicago this year, all club women were urged to study the causes of war and its prevention; we were urged to discourage the present extremes in dancing and dress; we were also urged to place ourselves on record as opposed to the liquor traffic, and as in favor of such laws as will tend to eradicate the evil. That great body of thinking women said to us, 'Inform yourselves on the woman suffrage question, for it is high time we were thinking sanely along this line.' Among the many other things that we, as club women, must be interested in, are civics, sanitation, pure food, home economics, the high cost of living and compulsory education." She cited the fact that there are thirty-three rural schools in our county and urged the club women to use their best efforts toward furthering the great plan of helpfulness, that is now being formulated in Texas, to aid each rural neighborhood through the rural school teachers, making the rural school house the center of activity.

At the close of her address the enthusiastic clapping of hands told plainly that her earnest words had been cordially received. The program of the hour then followed and included a brilliant instrumental solo, "Arlequine"..... Charminade Mrs. B. Youngblood. Paper—"Our Rural Women,....."..... Mrs. Albert Buchanan. Paper—"Compulsory Education,"..... Mrs. Allen Myers. Vocal—"I Dreamt,"..... Schira Mrs. Webb Howell. Paper—"Woman Suffrage,"..... Mrs. W. B. Cline. Discussion—"The Texas Bank," ably led by Mrs. J. W. Batte. A delicious salad and ice course concluded the pleasures of this most delightful affair.

Brvant-Batte— Beautiful and dainty in every detail and awaking the cordial and affectionate interest of a large circle of friends was the marriage of Miss Lillian Batte to Mr. W. T. Bryant of A. and M. College, which was celebrated at the home of the brides parents Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Batte on Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock. A home wedding with only the immediate members of the family and a few close friends present to witness the uniting of two young hearts is an ideal way for the solemnization of connubial vows. At such times the sweet sympathy and earnest love of friends and those of closer ties seem more perfectly in accord with the occasion. The marriage was one such as this and throughout the solemn scene, the spirit of pure love and sincere affection was manifest. The ceremony was said before the arched bay window in the music room which was a picture of beauty. The em-bankment of palms and ferns of varying heights formed an altar of greenery and white tapers tied with white bows of maline added another touch of sacredness. A large white basket filled with dainty fern sprays and white blossoms was tied with wide white satin ribbon to the center of the arch above, completing the beauty of the decorations. Previous to the ceremony Miss Evelyn Sanders, a girlhood friend of the bride, very sweetly sang "Because." Lohengrin wedding march was played by Mrs. H. O. Boatwright, to which the bridal party entered. Miss Lucile Batte, gowned in pink crepe de chine and carrying an arm bouquet of pink Killarney buds and ferns was first to enter with the best man, Mr. Fritz Berchert of College. The pillow bearer Miss Lella Law Davis, dainty in a white lingerie dress with pink sash and hair ribbon, came next followed by the bride and groom. Dr. M. E. Weaver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, pronounced the sacred rites that sealed their vows of love and made them man and wife. The ring ceremony was used and during the prayer the couple knelt on a white satin pillows, while strains of music, soft and sweet were heard from the piano. The bride wore an elegant going away suit of blue chiffon cloth trimmed in fur, with blouse of crepe de chine, blue hat and accessories to match. She wore a corsage bouquet of pink Killarney buds, valley lilies and ferns. A diamond bar pin, the gift of the groom, completed the bride's toilette.

After the ceremony sincere congratulations were offered and if good wishes were happiness, constant joy will flow into their lives. Many handsome gifts were displayed in the dining room, evidencing the high esteem in which the young people are held by a wide circle of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Bryant left immediately for Houston and Galveston, where they will visit for a week and on their return will be at home with the bride's parents.

Miss Park Entertains Bachelor Girls—

On Wednesday morning Miss Anita Park, struck the keynote of thorough enjoyment when she entertained with a morning glory party, naming the Bachelor Girls as her guests. An air of cordiality prevails at all times in this home and everything suggestive of wholesome pleasure and utter enjoyment predominates, and on this particular occasion, when the hostess and her mother, Mrs. P. S. Park, were at their best, the guests felt that there was not anything left undone that would contribute further to their pleasure. The porch with its banisters and columns covered with morning glory vines and hanging baskets of ferns and flowers, formed an ideal place for pleasure. An unique method of forming partners for a domino game was by matching colors found in the natural colors of morning glories, the same girls remaining partners through the progress of the games. The couple defeated were notified they were to wait on the winning couple during the remainder of the party. The guests, on being invited into the music room, were handed little booklets, hand painted in the chosen blossoms, with the words "Morning Glory," written on them. The guests whose names contained the same letters as are in Morning Glory, had to furnish the program of entertainment and often a defeated girl was called upon to perform the duty of one of the winners. This caused much fun, provoking peals of laughter. Morning glories were used exclusively in the dining room decorations and were exquisite in their arrangement. Again the girls who were defeated were called upon to wait on the others and a breakfast of meat croquettes, hot rolls, potato chips, pudding and whipped cream and steaming coffee were passed, which furnished a pleasing culmination to the morning hours.

up which was interperced with musical numbers by Miss Annie Belle Batte and Mrs. George Adams. At the conclusion of an appropriate song sung by Mrs. Adams the sound of the door bell was heard and on answering it an express package was delivered addressed to Miss Lillian Batte. The opening of this wonderful box afforded untold joy to the bride-to-be, not only because of the elegant gifts, but also because each article bespoke the loving good wishes of a true friendship. Miss Lillian told the girls of her appreciation in a charming way, her voice and manner showing plainly that every word came from her heart. A pleasing finale to an afternoon which was so delightfully informal was the serving of an ice course with cake.

Notes and Personals—

A postal from Mrs. Dorcas Parker, who is in attendance at Gunston Hall, in Washington, D. C., states that she is enjoying sight seeing as well as school work.
